Advancing Equity in Civics Community Toolkit

A resource for parents, organizers and equity leaders who are nurturing the next generation of changemakers.
At Generation Citizen, we envision a world where all students have the skills, knowledge and motivation to influence and impact change in their communities and our nation.

Through our Equity in Civics initiative, we're ensuring that every young person has access to inclusive, representative and culturally-relevant civic learning opportunities.
WE ENVISION A WORLD WHERE EVERY STUDENT KNOWS THEIR VOICE MATTERS AND THAT THEY POSSESS THE POWER TO CREATE CHANGE.
Equitable civics education is inclusive, representative, and relevant.

It values, embraces and centers the recommendations and contributions of young people.

Equitable civics education prioritizes and creates spaces for adult collaboration and support, especially for parents.

It depends on policy commitments to fund more equitable civics on the state, district, and school levels.
Generation Citizen's research shows that failure to value and include young people's recommendations, contributions, unique backgrounds and experiences can result in them feeling unheard and undervalued.

Every young person needs access to information and resources that help them understand what’s happening in the world and their place in it.

An equitable civics education means that students of all races, ethnicities, genders and economic backgrounds are educated and empowered to create the change they want to see.
“...with Generation Citizen, I’m not just a leader in the classroom. I’m learning to be a leader in my community.”
- Student Changemake Anyla Unique Lee (Rhode Island) READ THEIR STORY

“We have the power to galvanize kids our age.”
- Student Changemaker Justice Paraiso-Caceres (New York City) READ THEIR STORY

"We - students in the room - have the opportunity and responsibility to act - to speak up about the issues that affect our communities, to raise our voice, to become leaders."
- Student Changemaker Safiya Alsamarrai (Massachusetts) READ THEIR STORY
A successful nation depends on equal representation and participation from all communities and constituencies.

As adults, it’s our responsibility to prepare our youth to fully participate in and contribute to their communities and society.

Parents and caregivers, in particular, play a critical role in helping young people understand diverse viewpoints, navigate difficult conversations, and recognize bias and misinformation.
Join Generation Citizen's #WeAreGenC campaign to empower our youth and rebuild our democracy. Here's where to start:

- VISIT HERE to read our "Equity in Civics" White Paper and hear from voices on the ground who are driving this work forward nationwide.

- CLICK HERE to subscribe to our newsletter for news and updates on in-person and online events, including our new virtual conversation series.

- TAG US ON TWITTER and share why you support equity in civics ed using the hashtags #EquityInCivics and #WeAreGenC!
Ensuring young people can access quality, culturally-responsive & relevant civics ed is key to helping them fully contribute to their communities & our democracy. Learn how @gencitizen is advancing equity in civics & join the movement at equityincivics.org #WeAreGenC

Promoting diverse voices, perspectives & experiences is critical to helping young people grasp social issues & step into their power as agents for change. That's why I'm w/ @gencitizen's #WeAreGenC campaign to advance equitable civics ed in schools. http://equityincivics.org

Young people need access to knowledge and resources that help them understand what’s happening in the world and their place in it. They must know that their voices and opinions matter. #WeAreGenC #EquityInCivics
Ensuring young people can access quality, culturally-responsive and relevant civics education is key to helping them to fully contribute to their communities and our democracy. Learn how Generation Citizen is advancing equity in civics and join the movement at equityincivics.org #WeAreGenC

Promoting diverse voices, perspectives and lived experiences is critical to helping young people grasp social issues and step into their power as agents for change. That's why I'm with Generation Citizen's #WeAreGenC campaign to advance equitable civics ed in schools. http://equityincivics.org

Young people need access to knowledge and resources that help them understand what’s happening in the world and their place in it. They must know that their voices and opinions matter. #WeAreGenC #EquityInCivics
INSTAGRAM

- Ensuring young people can access quality, culturally-responsive and relevant civics education is key to helping them to fully contribute to their communities and our democracy. Learn how @generationcitizen is advancing equity in civics and join the movement at equityincivics.org #WeAreGenC #EquityInCivics #Equity #Education #Youth #Students #Democracy

- Promoting diverse voices, perspectives and lived experiences is critical to helping young people grasp social issues and step into their power as agents for change. That's why I'm with @generationcitizen's #WeAreGenC campaign to advance equitable civics ed in schools. http://equityincivics.org #EquityInCivics #Education #Youth #Students #Democracy

- Young people need access to knowledge and resources that help them understand what’s happening in the world and their place in it. They must know that their voices and opinions matter. #WeAreGenC #EquityInCivics #Equity #Education #Youth #Students #Democracy